Sydney

14th February

Join us for a day workshop challenging clinicians to think about the “why” rather than the “what” of seating prescription. Featuring core seating and mobility products from the JCM Seating, Jay Seating and Quickie wheelchair range, this presentation is designed to help clinicians develop a targeted and strategic approach to seating and mobility prescriptions.

This workshop will provide the opportunity to enhance clinical reasoning skills in determining the optimal seating and positioning strategy for clients with complex disabilities. We'll take the process from the beginning: including client assessment, postural mat evaluation and possible solutions for abnormal postures. We'll then translate this information into product prescription. We'll have the opportunity to gain practical knowledge with hands on practice; developing skills and trialling equipment.

If you've interested in taking your skills to the next level - this is the course for you.
